Hi Ryan,

Is there a way to change the check out to the 23? Adding that night as we will be returning from Pontianak to Jakarta that evening before we depart to Penang.

What Freedoms Will You Fight for?

Dear Christopher,

Happy Birthday America, we love you!

We love America because in spite of our issues, we can keep advocating for improvements. We love America because we have the responsibility to fix problems and fight for freedoms.

We believe that we should never waste our opportunities to improve America by accepting errors, even those by our own government.

So we hope you have an amazing Fourth of July Holiday and make time to join us next Wednesday July 10th for our Advocacy Webinar. Join to be part of what we're fighting together to fix in the second half of 2024 and beyond.

News & Updates

- California has an aggressive kratom regulation bill the AKA does not support. Watch the video below for testimony against the bill.
- North Carolina and New Jersey have kratom criminalization bills the AKA team is working to stop. The NJ legislature is in a summer break and North Carolina is considering removing kratom from the bill. We will talk more about both states on July 10th.
- Rhode Island Governor did unfortunately veto the KCPA bill that would have removed the kratom ban. It was clear large anti-kratom groups from the medical community and federal side contacted him asking that he not sign the bill. This certainly doesn't mean the AKA will stop working to reverse state bans, but just reinforces how much anti-kratom sentiment still exists.

Dr. McCurdy:

The National Research and Innovation Agency (BRIN) of Indonesia extends our invitation for you to join us for scientific briefings on research on kratom. We have scheduled these meetings on August 19, 20, and 21, 2024. In addition, should your schedules permit, we would welcome the opportunity to assist in facilitating site visits at kratom harvesting regions and raw material processing facilities. Those events are planned for later in that week.

As you are likely aware, Indonesian President Jokowi has directed BRIN to continue its research to assess the benefits and potential dangers of consuming kratom, and your groundbreaking research that addresses these issues will provide a welcome opportunity to collaborate with ongoing research and identify new areas of research that would inform policy leaders on kratom use.

We will provide more logistical meeting details closer to the date of your arrival.

Sincerely,

TT ELEKTRONIK

Drama Where Drama Isn't Needed

Dear Christopher,

The Global Kratom Coalition (GKC) is circulating an infographic that falsely misrepresents the position of the American Kratom Association. Matt Lowe, the GKC Executive Director, and the GKC Chair, JW Ross, know this information is false. They deliberately misstate the AKA position on "limited state regulations", limits on 7-OH products, and manipulation of alkaloid content in kratom products.

Why this infographic was created is unexplainable. It creates drama where drama isn't needed, and division within the kratom community at a time when we still have more than enough enemies trying to criminalize kratom consumers!

Read the full AKA response below and join us this Wednesday, July 10 at 9pm for full updates on proposed state bans in New Jersey, North Carolina, and a robust discussion on this issue.

Register for July 10th 9pm ET

The Global Kratom Coalition and the American Kratom Association

The Global Kratom Coalition (GKC) and the American Kratom Association (AKA) are organizations that share the common goal of promoting kratom safety and accessibility. However, they differ in several key areas. Below, we spotlight where both organizations fall on key issue areas.

Category	Global Kratom Coalition (GKC)	American Kratom Association (AKA)
Believes in safe access for consumers.	✓	✓
Believes in limited state regulations.		✓
Believes in robust state regulations.	✓
Believes in upper limits on 7OH levels in kratom products.	✓
Believe that the alkaloid content in kratom products should not be manipulated.	✓

As illustrated, the GKC and AKA are united in their mission to support kratom access and use, but differ in their approaches to regulation and industry practices.

The GKC emphasizes the importance of state involvement and setting upper limits on 7OH levels to protect consumers, while the AKA advocates for industry self-regulation and opposes strict capping of 7OH levels. By understanding these distinctions, consumers and stakeholders can better appreciate each organization's unique contributions and perspectives to the kratom community.

The Global Kratom Coalition (GKC) is circulating an infographic that falsely misrepresents the position of the American Kratom Association. Matt Lowe, the GKC Executive Director, and the GKC Chair, JW Ross, know this information is false. They deliberately misstate the AKA position on "limited state regulations", limits on 7-OH products, and manipulation of alkaloid content in kratom products.

Why this infographic was created is unexplainable. It creates drama where drama isn't needed.

The AKA has multiple witnesses who were participants on numerous zoom calls and in emails on these subjects that clearly show the deliberate level of deception by GKC in this infographic. In addition, the public statements and documents released by AKA on these topics, and the track record of legislative advocacy with the passage of 13 Kratom Consumer Protection Acts, clearly shows how dishonest the information presented by the GKC is. No reasonable person who reviews this information could believe that Mr. Lowe and Mr. Ross have any basis for the conclusions made in this inaccurate and disingenuous representation of the AKA's position on these issues.

The GKC apparently is upset with the opposition expressed by the AKA to the current version of the California kratom bill that we believe is anti-competitive, includes onerous regulatory requirements that will reduce consumer choices of otherwise safe kratom products, and will dramatically increase prices for kratom products to consumers.

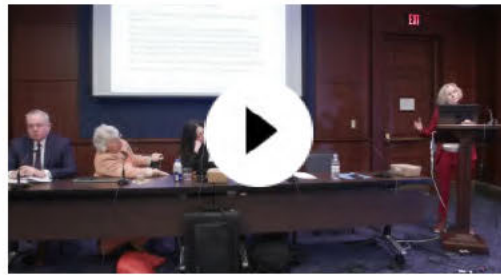

The AKA tried to work with the GKC on the California bill, but it boiled down to a significant difference in philosophy about the "robust regulations" on kratom — that, in the opinion of the AKA, will result in the creation of a mini-FDA in every state to increase regulatory staffers and control over the kratom marketplace that is unprecedented in state regulations of dietary and botanical supplements.

In Florida, the GKC is pursuing a similar regulatory scheme, and they did so in secret back-door meetings while the AKA, the GKC, Dr. Chris McCurdy and other parties were in intense discussions on what the Florida KCPA should look like. All of the parties participated honestly in the discussions negotiating honestly, exploring various policy options to find a consensus, and making concessions -- except for the GKC. None of us knew that while we were holding these meetings that Mr. Lowe and Mr. Ross actively participated in, the GKC was engaged in ongoing secret meetings with the Florida Department of Agriculture while everyone thought the negotiations were being done in good-faith with the intent to jointly present to the Department of Agriculture our proposed Florida KCPA.

What's Fueling Local Bans

Dear Christopher ,

We need your immediate support to defend kratom and the millions of Americans who rely on it for their well-being. The Illinois Department of Public Health (IDPH) has recently published a misleading social media post full of falsehoods and claiming kratom should be banned. These actions threaten to criminalize responsible kratom consumers and deny them access to this beneficial plant.

No wonder Illinois is seeing a rash of county and city criminalization attempts and this is more irrefutable proof that Public Health officials are often behind the scientific times on kratom and haven't accepted the truth from millions of responsible American kratom consumers. State agencies are fueling local bans across America; from Massachusetts to Illinois to California.

How We Are Fighting Back

The American Kratom Association (AKA) is actively refuting these false claims through rigorous scientific research and advocacy. We have urged the IDPH to remove their misleading posts and convene a stakeholder meeting to discuss the accurate science behind kratom. Additionally, we support the Kratom Consumer Protection Act (KCPA) in Illinois, which aims to regulate kratom products, ensuring their safety and purity.

Illinois Department of Public Health Instagram Post on Kratom

Claim: Kratom affects the brain's opioid receptors in the same way as morphine does. It possesses properties that increase risk of abuse, dependence and addiction to kratom itself.

This is completely untrue and directly contradicted by NIDA funded science research. Kratom's main alkaloid is a "partial agonist" that is significantly different than the full agonist activity of morphine.

Claim: Kratom might do more harm than good for those who consume it

This "opinion" statement is contradicted by numerous peer-reviewed published scientific articles, and ignores the policy statements by the U.S. Congress, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, and the White House.

Claim: Each year in Illinois, an average of 53 overdose deaths also involve kratom.

There is no known scientific level where kratom causes an overdose death. Research has shown that kratom can help those addicted to dangerous opioids to wean off them and use less dangerous therapies to manage acute and chronic pain.

Claim: A kratom overdose presents like an opioid overdose. Symptoms such as significant drowsiness or loss of consciousness, difficulty breathing, nausea and vomiting, mental confusion, hallucinations, and loss of coordination and balance are often present.

This statement is directly contradicted by research, including a recent FDA human dose finding study that concluded that “kratom was well tolerated at all dose levels” and human subjects only experienced nausea even at 12 grams consumed in a 5-minute period. The claim in this post is demonstrably false.

Claim: The U.S. Drug-Induced Liver Injury Network found that kratom may cause liver toxicity and severe liver injury. Out of 404 cases of liver damage linked to dietary supplements, 8 involved kratom.

This statement failed to note that the 404 liver damage cases occurred over a 16-year period and some of the patients presented with a history of abusing or heavy use of alcohol, a known liver damaging substance. There were no reported fatalities of the patients identified as using kratom and all recovered after treatment. No testing appeared to be done on whether the kratom products used were adulterated kratom

Claim: Kratom is prone to salmonella contamination. In May of 2018, 199 people had become ill with Salmonella associated with kratom use. No deaths occurred from that outbreak, but Salmonella poisoning can be fatal. Salmonella contamination doesn't have any visible warning signs, so it is safest to avoid all products that may have Kratom as an ingredient.

A significant number of consumer products are “prone to Salmonella.” Illinois has reported Salmonella outbreaks from ground beef, chicken, pork, lettuce, cucumbers, basil, and other fruits and vegetables. In Illinois, the Department reports there are about 1,500 to 2,000 cases of Salmonella reported in food products each year.

Claim: Kratom products also often contain high levels of heavy metals.

There are many products that contain high levels of heavy metals. The FDA itself has warned that “the typical long-term kratom user could potentially develop heavy metal poisoning.” The FDA has published warnings about heavy metal contamination in foods intended for babies and young children. The solution is in regulations specifically to limit dangerous levels of heavy metals. The FDA just issued a warning on March 6, 2024, on cinnamon apple puree and applesauce products due to elevated lead levels linked to these products. Kratom produced under Good Manufacturing Practices has reduced heavy metal contamination in kratom products and that is why the Illinois KCPA is the solution.

Claim: The science just doesn't support it.

Since Dr. Girior rejected the FDA's reliance on “embarrassingly poor evidence and data” that is the basis for the Department's post, more than 200 peer-reviewed published research articles have affirmed the safety profile of kratom.

Claim: Turning to kratom in an effort to break the chains of an opioid addiction may only create a new dependency.

This “opinion” is contradicted by the NIDA director, Dr Nora Volkow, who characterizes kratom as a potential harm reduction tool in the battle against opioid overdoses. The research on kratom shows that it can result in a dependency, but scientists argue that dependency is dramatically different than an addiction like opioids. NIDA studies document kratom does not have the same addiction profile as opioids.

WHY IS KRATOM SO DANGEROUS?

Commonly referred to as “gas station heroin,” Kratom is legal in the United States and incredibly easy to get. It is illegal in over 30 countries, including Indonesia, one of the largest distributors of Kratom.

IN 2020,
2.1 MILLION PEOPLE
USED KRATOM.

EACH YEAR IN ILLINOIS,
AN AVERAGE OF 53
OVERDOSE DEATHS
ALSO INVOLVE KRATOM.

Kratom overdose deaths typically involve another substance, although it is possible to overdose and die from Kratom alone. The risks are much higher when combined with other substances.

A KRATOM OVERDOSE PRESENTS LIKE AN OPIOID OVERDOSE.

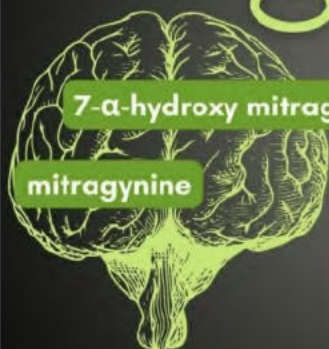

Symptoms such as significant drowsiness or loss of consciousness, difficulty breathing, nausea and vomiting, mental confusion, hallucinations, and loss of coordination and balance are often present.

A Kratom overdose is a medical emergency, especially when the substance is combined with other drugs.

Kratom is a tropical tree, native to Southeast Asia.

Its leaves often have psychotropic and pain-relieving effects.

IT MIMICS THE HIGHS, FEELINGS OF ELATION, AND PAIN RELIEF OF OPIOIDS.

WHAT DOES THAT MEAN?

Kratom affects the brain's opioid receptors in the same way as morphine does. It possesses properties that increase risk of abuse, dependence, and addiction to Kratom itself.

The FDA warns explicitly against the use of Kratom.

DESPITE NO FDA—APPROVED USES, KRATOM HAS GAINED POPULARITY IN OPIOID DETOX AS A METHOD FOR DEALING WITH WITHDRAWAL.

Kratom might do more harm than good for those who consume it.

NEW FDA KRATOM STUDY

Dear Christopher ,

Never a dull August.

Three years ago in August 2021 the FDA requested comments as part of their effort to ban kratom internationally. Now the FDA has just announced they've hired an outside group to conduct an in-depth study of kratom consumers.

The FDA is required to receive comments and while we encourage everyone to comment, there's a lot of unpack about what the study is focusing on and how it will be conducted.

Therefore, before commenting, we strongly suggest joining us Wednesday night August 7th at 8:30 pm for a detailed analysis and Q&A about it. We'll break down what the FDA's intentions are and what our best course of action is to prevent them skewing the study to fit an anti-kratom bias.

The Federal Notice and study description can be found here.

Hidden Kratom Ban on City Agenda

Dear Christopher ,

We've just found out about an issue in Iowa City for Tuesday August 6th. Please email us at Kp@americankratom.org if you are in that area and can help.

Hidden under the Tobacco Moratorium Discussion there is a memo from the City Attorney.

Iowa City. City Council - Work Session Agenda

August 6, 2024 - 4:00 PM

Please share and let us know if you can help in Iowa and contact the officials there to stop it.

3. University of Iowa Student Government (USG) Updates
4. Staff presentation on the $3.75 million PRO Housing federal grant award
5. Presentation on repositioning public housing project from Bloomberg Harvard Leadership initiative fellow Naomi Mehta
6. Review draft Request for Proposal (RFP) document for 21 S. Linn Street
7. Tobacco Moratorium Discussion
8. Council updates on assigned boards, commissions, and committees

Kratom ban.

You will see a third draft addressing kratom. Modeled after a number of other municipal bans, this version makes it unlawful to "sell, advertise for sale, offer for sale, or distribute, directly or indirectly, any kratom product, or item labeled as a kratom product, in the City." Penalties can be imposed via either criminal sanctions through an unscheduled simple misdemeanor or through civil sanctions via a municipal infraction.

Moratorium.

Finally, the moratorium for issuance of new tobacco permits currently remains in effect through December 31st. Designed to allow time for Council to decide how to address tobacco permits, it should be lifted, via resolution, once the desired changes are placed into effect.

Again, all three of these ordinance amendments are drafts. Staff intends to receive Council's guidance at the work session, make whatever changes are needed to effectuate those wishes, and ensure the amendments work efficiently within our Code. I look forward to discussing these drafts with you on Tuesday and receiving your direction on how you would like to proceed. As always, should you have questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact me.
